This appendix contains statistical breakdowns of the various answer categories to the questions used in Report No. C-11, Series No. 3, "Extent of West German Influences on the East German Population."

The following material, which was omitted from the original report in order to keep it sizeable and easy to handle, will furnish especially interested readers with valuable detailed information about attitudes and reactions of the various segments of the East Zone attending the 1957 INTERBAU Exposition. The data are based on three samples of 799, 801 and 799 cases each. When a given question was asked of all interviewees, the total - 2,399 - is indicated. As with all samples of East Germans, only two quota controls are possible: Land of residence and sex.

Interviewing commenced on July 6, 1957 - the day the INTERBAU Exposition opened - and concluded on September 14, 1957. Although the Exposition lasted until the end of the month, this cut-off date was adopted in order not to cause any confusion or overlap with interviewing conducted in connection with the Berlin Industrial Fair, which opened on September 14 and ran concurrently with the remainder of the INTERBAU.

Interviewing was conducted by DIVO, Marktforschung - Meinungsforschung - Sozialforschung, Frankfurt am Main/Bad Godesberg, a German survey organization.
